Learn about Edwards Orton-Gillingham

Edwards Orton-Gillingham is an Accredited Plus program recognized by the International Dyslexia Association. Our approach is specifically designed to empower educators with diagnostic-prescriptive teaching strategies deeply rooted in the science of reading and structured literacy principles.

With decades of proven results, our programs uniquely address the needs of all learners while offering critical support for students with language-based learning disabilities, including dyslexia. Through intensive, multisensory instruction, we help educators transform their teaching practices, resulting in measurable growth and literacy success for thousands of students nationwide.

By partnering closely with schools and educators, we provide personalized, actionable training and resources. Our comprehensive lesson frameworks, instructional materials, and ongoing support enable educators to confidently teach foundational literacy skills and elevate student outcomes.

Welcome message from Mrs. Ann Edwards

As an educator first and foremost, I have always believed deeply in the transformative power of teaching. As an Accredited Training Fellow of the Orton-Gillingham Academy, my life's work has been dedicated to empowering teachers and advocating for students. Over decades, I've had the honor of training thousands of educators across New York City public schools and internationally, witnessing firsthand how structured literacy instruction changes lives.

Edwards Orton-Gillingham is more than just training, it's a commitment to excellence, a belief in every student's potential, and steadfast support for the educators who guide them. Our diagnostic-prescriptive, multisensory approach ensures that all students, especially those with language-based learning disabilities, achieve meaningful literacy success.

Thank you for joining us in this critical mission to build confident, capable readers and writers.

Warmest regards,

Ann Edwards

Our Approach

Our Training Approach

At Edwards Orton-Gillingham, our professional development opportunities and resources are meticulously crafted to build educators' expertise and confidence in teaching reading and spelling. Our team of certified trainers and support specialists deliver personalized, evidence-based learning experiences designed to meet the unique needs of all educators and students.

Alignment with the Science of Reading

Our training is anchored firmly in the Science of Reading, emphasizing research-driven practices that inform effective literacy instruction. Educators learn to leverage research to foster stronger student outcomes.

Diagnostic-Prescriptive Approach

Recognizing each student's unique learning profile, we equip educators to use ongoing assessment to personalize instruction, addressing individual needs with targeted interventions.

Multisensory Teaching Techniques

We emphasize multisensory instructional strategies, engaging visual, auditory, and kinesthetic-tactile learning modalities to deepen student understanding and retention of foundational literacy skills.

Structured, Systematic, and Evidence-Based Instruction

Our professional learning opportunities provide structured and systematic approaches to literacy instruction, empowering educators to deliver consistent, clear, and effective teaching tailored to support every student's literacy development.
